As the title reflects, this non-fiction book penned by Sumathi Kulkarni is an expression of thoughts and ideas mirroring the environment and our experiences. They are universal in nature and represent an outpouring of emotions, thoughts, facts and sensitivities at different levels. The author talks about simplicity of children and education in contrast to the present complex system that complicates a child's mind. She also reflects the practical importance of English as a global language. The idea is to empower teachers frequently with introduction of skills through workshops as reinforcement as well as strengthen and refine the skills of the teacher community.

"Present turns to past and future turns to present, but the past never changes its stance..." What we do in the present is not a big deal, but after it has gone into the past, it will become something memorable. In our past we had done so many nonsensical things, but now when we remember those days a smile comes to our lips. "Our present is like watching a horror film, and our past is like the experience that we enjoyed in the cinema hall." Words of the past: the story is about a person, who even after completing his graduation didn't gain any sense about his future. Seasons have changed but he still didn't get any idea. Like others he has a life too, like others he too enjoyed his life, but not like others. He went back to his past. His school, his college, his nonsense's, his crushes, his friends, his girls, his enjoyment, silly fights, and his past life... These thoughts made sense to him. "Life means some of years, emotions and notorious things. Behind everything a strange emotional experience will be present." His sensible thoughts on his past make sense to him. So he decided to make it into a book. He made his past into a book. Are you ready to recollect your past?

Castles in the Air is an attempt to open discussions on some often overlooked issues which affect education, particularly in rural and township government schools. In order to make it a truly South African drama, I have drawn from oral tradition by including songs and poems which play an integral part in traditional storytelling. There are many folksongs which were included in earlier versions, but I decided to remove them in the final version because I did not intend to write a musical. There are also some praise poems that I composed for the main character and his father. I studied oral tradition, and I am confident that the praise poems I composed have all the qualities of the real praise poems, and because I could not compose them in Each journey of life has its own destination, but the very common thing in the path of getting somewhere is the separation from the people who were family. The thought of getting divided into three streams after 10th and then finally saying bye at the time of farewell to the people who had made school life memorable. To remind and make other 's relive their school life, Hana Gill is coming with her group to let you know the bond you had shared with your friends in school it might be faded away now, but the memories are sealed safe in hearts and minds.
