Toyota Blade Master G
The first thing I should mention about the Blade Master G is that Toyota took their highest spec Corolla Auris (usually fitted with a 4 cylinder up to 2.4L) and shoehorned the 206kw 2GR-FE 3.5L V6 from a Camry into the front. They only came out in Automatic. I jump in, no smokey smell here, yay.

It's actually a pain, because it makes it impossible to find model specific information online as those words are common automotive terms.
